

SAIDMUHAMMAD ISOQOV

ABOUT ME

I am Saidmukhammad Isokov — an event organizer, web developer, and sports enthusiast. I work in the Students' Union of my university, where I organize large-scale projects between eight universities and manage communication, coordination, and logistics.

In addition to university-level events, I also served as an organizer of FSMUN (Model United Nations) held at School No. 5, where I coordinated participants, prepared event materials, and ensured the smooth execution of all sessions. This experience strengthened my leadership, public communication, and event management skills.

I also work with digital technologies: website development, AI tools, social media promotion, and automation. My goal is to contribute to FIA events in Tashkent and gain valuable international sports event experience.

Motivation for Volunteering at FIA

Volunteering at FIA events is an opportunity to be part of an international sports initiative and contribute to high-quality event organization in Uzbekistan.

I aim to develop my skills in sports management, teamwork, and real-time decision-making while supporting a global motorsport community.

I am disciplined, motivated, and ready to work in a dynamic, fast-paced environment.
